Welcome to the seventh edition of SouthAll Community News. Despite the warm summer, there has been no rest on site and once ice-creams were handed out, our teams continued to bring forward the Southall Waterside development. We are pleased to announce that the brand new Western Access road is now open to construction vehicles.

Brand new Western Access road

The new Western Access road is now fully operational to site traffic. This new route has resulted in the removal of all our large construction vehicles from local roads. Delivering this road is part of our commitment to local residents and improve road safety in Southall.

We’ve caught up with the site’s Environmental Scientist, Jonathan Houghton, to chat about his role in bringing forward Southall Waterside.

Q: So Jonathan, what is your favourite thing about working in Southall?
A: I take a lot of satisfaction in the knowledge that the work I am carrying out, is helping to reclaim an old neglected site and bringing about lasting environmental improvement in Southall.

Q: What is the most interesting part of your job day-to-day?
A: One of the most interesting parts of my job, is collaborating with my colleagues to solve challenges that come with working on such a complex site.

Q: When did you start working in Southall?
A: I started working at Southall Waterside back in October 2016, to help support the remediation work on the site.

Q: What exactly does an Environmental Scientist do on a construction site such as Southall Waterside?
A: I provide environmental technical support to the construction team. I also oversee key stages of the remediation works and ensure they are compliant and carried out to the highest standards.

Q: What part of the site are you working on right now?
A: I’m currently helping to prepare for ground works on the next phase of building on site, which will bring forward lots of new retail space and public open spaces for all to enjoy.
FUN IN THE SUN IN SOUTHALL

Local schools summer fayres
Children at several local primary schools were treated to end of term summer fayres. Our team pitched up a stall and ran a water sustainability challenge, teaching the children the importance of reducing water waste.

ZEE London Mela
At the end of August Zee London Mela, Ealing’s most colourful festival celebrating Asian music, dance and culture came back home to Southall.

As a sponsor of this year’s festival, we’re proud to have helped deliver such a fun filled weekend promoting Asian culture on our doorstep.

Local councillor visit
In July, we invited your newly elected ward councillors from Southall Green and Southall Broadway to the site. We showed them the progress we’ve made so far, giving them an insight into Phase A construction and the onsite soil hospital.

Councillors expressed how informative the visit was and we look forward to future update events in the new year.
Fun and games at Southall Community Sports Day
For a third year running, more than 300 local residents joined in the annual Southall Community Alliance Community Sports Day. They helped to raise money for our local charity, Hope for Southall Street Homeless.

The team at Southall Waterside went head to head against, Hope for Southall Street Homeless, the MET Police and several other organisations on the day.

Blair Peach Primary School canal clean up
Members of the team banded together in the pouring rain to help clean Blair Peach Primary School’s playground and the surrounding canal area.

As part of the final touches of the clean-up we helped renovate the old pond at the school. The pond will be used as a fun interactive space to teach the children about wildlife in the area.
